Presenters

Kimberly McNally, MN, RN, is an executive coach and consultant based in Seattle, WA, who works with leaders and teams in health care, nonprofit, and public education organizations. She draws on 30 years of nursing and health care experience in diverse governance, leadership, education, and clinical positions. Informed by her first-hand experiences leading teams in complex environments, she understands the rewards and challenges leaders face as well as the value of healthy and innovative work environments. She is known for her warmth, insight, commitment and ability to help leaders and teams create positive results; develop new competencies; and feel more effective and fulfilled.

Liz Cunningham, BSN, is an expert on the human side of health care leadership. Executive coach, consultant, and catalyst for team learning and meaningful change for 25 years, she has successfully worked side by side with leaders and their teams from a wide spectrum of healthcare organizations as they achieve common goals and enrich the overall quality of life and work within their organizations. She is known for her ability to quickly see “the heart of the matter”. She has spoken to audiences across the nation. Her speaking, teaching and acting experience adds a dynamic dimension to the coaching she provides to leaders on leadership presence that is guided by intention not ego.

Mary Browning, DNP, RN, NE-BC, is Vice President of Nursing Ambulatory Care Services. She has been in her current position since 2008. Previously she was the VP of Nursing, as well as the Director of Nursing for Community Hospital East and Team Leader for Rehabilitation Nursing. Mary has spent 34 of her 40 years of nursing experience in various nursing leadership positions. She graduated in May 2010 with her Doctor of Nursing Practice from Purdue University, her master’s in Nursing with a business minor is from Ball State and she is a certified Nurse Executive.
